ROTARY INVOCATION

We, the Rotarians are dedicated to the ideal of service to maintain a high ethical standard in our business and profession and to dignify our vocation by enhancing international understanding goodwill and peace through people united in the ideal of service.

THE FOUR-WAY TEST

of the things we think, say or do

1. Is it the TRUTH?
2. Is it Fair to all concerned?
3. Will it build GOODWILL and BETTER FRIENDSHIP?
4. Will it be BENEFICIAL to all concerned?

A wheel has been the symbol of Rotary since our earliest days. The first design was made by Chicago Rotarian Montague Bear, an engraver who drew a simple wagon wheel, with a few lines to show dust and motion. The wheel was said to illustrate "Civilization and Movement." Most of the early clubs had some form of wagon wheel on their publications and letterheads. Finally, in 1992, it was decided that all Rotary clubs should adopt a single design as the exclusive emblem of Rotarians. Thus, in 1923, the present gear wheel with 24 cogs and six spokes was adopted by the "Rotary International Association." A group of engineers advised that the gear wheel was mechanically unsound and would not work without a "Keyway" in the center of the gear to attach it to a power shaft. So, in 1923 the Keyway was added and the design which we know was formally adopted was the official Rotary International emblem.

The Founder of Rotary and Spouse

Paul P. Harris and Jean Harris

Paul P. Harris 1886

THE FOUR FOUNDING FATHERS OF ROTARY

Paul P. Harris (1868-1947) Was a Chicago attorney in 1905 when he had an idea for a club in which professionals and businessmen could share “mutual cooperation and informal friendship such as all had once known in our villages.” On the evening of Thursday, 23 February 1905, Paul Harris gathered three business acquaintances to form a group that became the Rotary Club of Chicago, initiating the world’s first service organization. Though Paul Harris was the visionary of such a club, he voluntarily did not become its head but later on the people under the banner of the organization made him the first President of What later named as Rotary International, the association of Rotary clubs around the world with more than 1.2 million members united under the motto “Service Above Self”.

Silvester Schiele (1868-1945) was a coal dealer and a client of Paul Harris in 1905. Born in rural Indiana, Schiele liked to tell harris interesting anecdotes of his “young pioneer” boyhood. During the course of their business dealings, Harris first shared the idea with schiele for a new kind of club for professionals. On 23 February 1905, Harris invited Schiele for dinner to develop his ideas of a fellowship and booster club. In addition to becoming first president of the Rotary Club of Chicago, Schiele developed a close lifelong friendship with Harris.

Gustavus H. “Gus” Loehr (1864-1918) was a Chicago mining engineer who lent his office on the seventh floor of the Unity building at 127 Dearborn Street in Chicago for the first gathering of the founders of Rotary on 23 February 1905. Loehr invited Hiram Shorey to this meeting. His health later deteriorated and he left the club, but remained a supporter of Rotary until his death at the age of 53.

Hiram E. Shorey (1862-1944) was merchant tailor in 1905. One of the founding four members of the Rotary Club of Chicago, he remained a Rotarian for only a short time before moving back to his home state of maine. Upon his later return to Chicago, he rejoined for a brief membership, Shorey was always supportive of the Rotary Club of Chicago and voiced pride at his early association with Rotary.

THE VISION OF THE ROTARY FOUNDATION

ARCH C KLUMPH
RI President 1917-1918

Arch C. Klumph, the sixth President of Rotary International (1916-17) had a great vision of the future of Rotary as a “movement for the centuries.” but he realized that it would thrive only if it could sustain itself. It was at the Atlanta Convention in 1917 that he reiterated his plea for “an endowment fund for Rotary for the purpose of doing good to the world” and created The Rotary Foundation (TRF). The first steps in the Foundation’s long march were feeble and there were doubts about its future during the depression years of the 1930s and World War II.

What triggered the infusion of life into the TRF was the desire of Rotarians to do something in memory of Rotary’s founder, Paul P Harris, following his death in 1947. They started making contributions as paul Harris Fellows (PHFs), paul Harris Sustaining Members (PHSMs) and subsequently remained as Rotary Foundation Sustaining Member (RFSM). It was not long before TRF gained vigour and a firm footing primarily through Rotarians contributions and, later on, donations from other like-minded organizations.

The Foundation’s permanent fund is so invested and managed as to yield substantial income to bear its administrative and fundraising costs as well as the surging cost of its numerous programs, which have steadily expanded over the years.

The man who foresaw the role of the TRF in Rotary’s future, Arch C. Klumph, was a man of extraordinary energy whose devotion to the cause of Rotary was unparalleled. Rising from boyhood poverty to outstanding success as a businessman in Cleveland Ohio, USA, Arch C. Klumph was also an active civic leader, accomplished flutist (he was a member of the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra for 14 years) and sportsman. He was Chirman of the Committee entrusted to write a new constitution for Rotary International and also wrote the Standard Constitution and Bylaws for all Rotary Clubs, adopted in 1915. His work provided the cohesive unity necessary for Rotary’s growth.

Arch C Klumph died in 1952, by which time the Rotary Foundation’s future was assured and it was “doing good to the world” just as Klumph had envisioned.

Dear fellow Rotarian,

I want to congratulate you on your installation ceremony to the office of 2018-19 as club President.

Although the details of each position differ from year to year and place to place, your ultimate responsibility is the same as mine. We work to move Rotary forward, doing whatever we can do to make the part of Rotary that we're responsible for as effective and efficient as it can be. We make sure that we are transparent and accountable while changing the lives of as many people as possible. And we ensure that Rotary provides the best possible experience to its members and continues to grow, all while remaining useful to the world.

It's only by coming together that we're able to accomplish so much. Without active members like you, Rotary wouldn't be the organization it is today. As our new vision statement says: Together, we see a world where people unite and take action to create lasting change — across the globe, in our communities, and in ourselves.

Congratulations again on your appointment as club President. I look forward to having you join me to "Be the Inspiration".

FROM THE CHIEF GUEST

LOVE UNITES ALL SOULS

It is my privilege to attend the Installation Ceremony of the Rotary Club of Dhaka Mega City on July 27, 2018. Newly elected committee will inherit a glorious past from the preceding illustrious committee. New committee is poised for opening up new horizon of excellence and achievement for which new members have earned the confidence of electors. I wish them clear vision and glorious action to reach the destiny of mission. Replacing the old by the new is a cyclical order of nature. The poet rightly desired, "Ring out the old, Ring in the new."

Rotary club is a philanthropic organization working throughout the world. They work for the humanity irrespective of cast, creed, race or sect. These bring in spectacular diversity in the human race, which resembles a beautiful garden with so many kinds of flowers. Diversity is not inequality. Selfish one-eyed people divide human beings into black and white, touchable and untouchable, rich and poor, master and slave and so on. Responsibility of bringing in unity in diversity lies on the wise people who love the creation of God. Love unites all souls. Love brings the creation nearer to the Creator.

Lovers of humanity should work together with wealth and wisdom to face selfish activities of exploitation and hatred. Wealthy people better use their wealth for the benefit of the deprived and under-privileged brothers. Rotarians are amongst those loving souls. I wish them success.

GREETINGS

FROM THE INSTALLATION CHAIR

The journey of Rotary Club of Dhaka Mega City started in early 2013 with a group of enthusiastic young personalities. Since inception, the members of the club have been trying their best to do something different through their sincere performance. Baton of leadership started with an exceptionally qualified and experienced Charter President Rtn. M. Naseemul Hye PHF, which has been gradually shifted to a number of professional path finders. The baton of the club leadership has now been taken over by the current year President Rtn. Itrat Husain MPH. A highly energetic young man with grey hair and beard, he has already marked the foot print of dynamism in a different height.

I am confident that under his very able leadership ROTARY CLUB OF DHAKA MEGA CITY shall be one of the most vibrant, active and a project oriented Club in the District. Through the process, in the shortest possible time, MEGA CITY will enter the International arena by implementing projects under “Global Grant Management Fund”.

The Immediate Past President Rtn. Hasan Ur Rashid Tutul PHF, has created a few good examples in connection with international understanding, fellowship and fund management. I personally congratulate him for his efforts.

My regards to the members of outgoing board and good wishes to the new President and his team mates for a successful and eventful Rotary Year 2018-19. My sincerest gratitude to the persons who have made the Installation Programme a remarkable one through their participation, assistance and good wishes.

Best Regards

MESSAGE

FROM THE PRESIDENT

Bismillahir Rahmanir Rahim

Assalamu Alaikum

It is an honour for me to be elected as the President to lead the club for 2018-19. The club is still in its infancy but we have dedicated members whose efforts and cooperation will ensure that we achieve results and take the club forward.

Although we started with a humble beginning, we have been growing steadily. It is our intention to take a big leap forward this year so that we attain greater heights. We have therefore set ambitious goals; but In Shaa Allah we will achieve them.

I would like to thank my predecessor, the Board and all the past Presidents for their excellent leadership which has enabled the club to earn recognition and reach its present position in such a short time. The members have also played a positive role which I expect will continue in our efforts to achieve our ambitious goals.

This year we will continue with the projects implementation, as before, but in addition we will initiate mega projects with the support of District/Global grants. Initially we are planning for a 22 bed hospital at a cost of approximately Tk. 3 crore at Dhubaria, Tangail.

Our additional new areas of focus now will be donations of wheel chairs, distribution of clothing rain water harvesting, assistance to the neglected freedom fighters, contribution to Thallasemia foundation, assistance to autistic children and Leprosy affected persons, renovation and building of public toilets, raincoats to rickshaw pullers, placing many bill boards at strategic locations to create awareness about burning issues, etc. We also plan to carry out projects jointly with other clubs. We will however continue to explore new possibilities of providing service to the needy. We are committed to serve humanity and the less fortunate people in our society and will do our utmost to bring smile on their faces.

I am extremely fortunate to have members in my team who are very co-operative, dynamic and share my dream.

Our Rotary theme this year is “BE THE INSPIRATION”. We will follow this theme and inspire people to get involved with Rotary by creating more awareness through bill boards, leaflets, seminars and personal contacts. We expect at least 25% growth in the membership of our club this year, In Shaa Allah.

We are optimistic about getting support and financial assistance from various philanthropic persons and organisations to enable us to take the club forward. We need support from everyone.

Thanking you all. Allah Hafiz.

Rtn. Itrat Husain MPHF
President 2018-19

WHY ROTARY CARES FOR PEACE AND CONFLICT RESOLUTION

Rtn PDG Ishtiaque A. Zaman, PhD

District Governor 2012-13 for RID 3280 &
District Coordinator, RID 3281 for 2018-19

Rotary is dedicated to six areas of focus to build international relations, improve lives, and create a better world to support our peace efforts and end polio forever.

Promoting peace

Rotary encourages conversations to foster understanding within and across cultures. We train adults and young leaders to prevent and mediate conflict and help refugees who have fled dangerous areas.

Conflict and violence displace millions of people each year. Half of those killed in conflict are children, and 90 percent are civilians. Sixty-five million people are currently displaced by armed conflict or persecution like in Myanmar of the Rohingya refugees, Syria, and elsewhere.

One of the primary focus of Rotary for over a century has been peace and conflict resolution in the world. Over the last one hundred years, the world has seen a lot of conflicts, including two World Wars. Rotarians and the Rotary family throughout the world have been waging peace in our communities instead. The birthday of Rotary – 23rd February – is known to usher world understanding and peace. In recent times Rotary has launched its new six areas of focus and one of those six areas is peace and conflict resolution. Hence, Rotary and peace are intertwined for a very long period of time.

The Rotary Peace Centres are one way of The Rotary Foundation (TRF) of Rotary International to do good for the world. In 1914 at Houston, delegates at the RI Convention passed a resolution to convene an international peace conference. In 1921 in Edinburgh, the Fourth Object of Rotary defining peace was included. It was later ratified in 1922. In San Francisco in 1945, while chartering of the United Nations, several Rotarians made significant contributions in the drafting of the UN Charter providing the framework of a peaceful post World War II. To this day, this relationship between Rotary and the UN continues, and senior Rotary leaders are given observer status at the UN General Assembly each year in September.

The Rotary Peace Centers programme was established in 2002 to honour Paul Harris on the 50th anniversary of his death. The programme has a vision of creating sustainable peace, by building networks of peace builders and community leaders dedicated to preventing and resolving global conflicts. This number of peace-builders and community leaders is steadily increasing! One hundred peace fellowships are offered each year at Rotary Peace Centres around the world. To this day, 1000+ students have graduated from Rotary's Peace Centres programme.

The Rotary Peace fellowship is quite generous and comprehensive. The fellowship funding includes tuition, room and board, travel, applied field experience as well as conference funding.

To serve this vision, Rotary has developed unique partnerships with 7 leading universities who host our Rotary Peace Centers. The goal of the centers is to empower, educate, and increase the capacity of peace-builders through rigorous academic training, practice, and global networking opportunities. And the fellowship helps fellows build the skills needed to act as leaders and catalysts for peace and conflict resolution in their communities and across the globe. Alumni of the programme that are working in the field of peace and conflict resolution and prevention provide us with resources for supporting the programme and future applicants.

Rotary has raised over $156 million to support Rotary's peace initiatives. You can too by supporting Rotary's peace programmes through your generous contribution to TRF.

Rotarians Wage Peace: Rotary refuses to accept conflict as a way of life. Rotary projects provide training that fosters understanding and provides communities with the skills to resolve conflicts.

The Rotary Action Group for Peace gives Rotary members resources and support to advance world peace and turn ambitious ideas into life-changing realities.

We support peace

With your help, our foundation can promote peace through projects and education.

How Rotary makes Help Happen: Through our service projects, peace fellowships, our members are taking action to address the underlying causes of conflict, including poverty, inequality, ethnic tension, lack of access to education, and unequal distribution of resources.

Rotary makes amazing things happen, like:

Improving Quality of Life. Rotary members founded the people for People Foundation, which has helped 10,000 families afford food, clothes, rent, utilities, medications, and other necessities.

Raising awareness of bullying. Rotaract Clubs in the Philippines conduct anti-bullying campaigns in schools to teach children how to handle conflict peacefully from an early age. It is happening in other parts of the Rotary world, and it can happen in your community as well. So, go ahead and do as the Philippines Rotaract Clubs have done in your own community in Bangladesh.

Protecting domestic violence survivors and their families. The U.S. State of Louisiana has the fourth highest incidence of death caused by domestic violence. Local Rotary members met this issue by helping to put together a shelter to provide food, clothing, legal advocacy, and counselling to over 500 women in one year.

Australian Rotary clubs raise awareness and funds to prevent domestic violence and support its victims.

Breaking Myths Hunted for body parts and isolated by fear, Tanzanians with albinism are finding new futures through Rotary programs that fight pervasive myths and stigmas.

Rebuild Lives

Canadian Rotary clubs are helping refugees from Syria to start new lives.

It works through our Volunteer Hours: We transform communities when we take action locally and globally: each day, our members pour their passion, integrity, and intelligence into completing projects that have a lasting impact. We persevere until we deliver real, lasting solutions by providing 16 million volunteer hours each year.

Today, Rotary has become not only an organization that is capable of changing the world, but one that has already done so, through our work to eradicate polio. None of us can know what lies ahead for Rotary. It remains for all of us to continue to build on the solid foundations that were laid for us by Paul Harris and his friends: to forge and strengthen the bonds of peace, service and friendship through Rotary to Be an Inspiration for everyone around us.

SERVICES ABOVE SERVICE SHOULD BE RECOGNIZED

Rtn. M S Siddiqui

Legal Economist and PP, Rotary Club of Dhaka Central e-mail: mssiddiqui2035@gmail.com

Service providing authorities around the world face a common set of challenges, whether their services are to meet the increased expectations of their 'customers' – the recipients are both citizens and businesses. One common challenge faced by the service providing individual or organization is how to service its citizen better.

In a country like Bangladesh, the public sector is a major service provider and traditionally government agencies are vehicle to provide services to the common citizen although various services are transferring to the private sector. The citizens/businesses expect due services from both public and private providers against payment of tax and price of services. It is expected that the service providers must find ways of improving the efficiency and effectiveness of its service delivery. This means providing value for money by improving quality of service and make access to service for all in a fair and equitable manners. There should be a continuous endeavor to reduce the cost of services.

In Bangladesh political authority happy with the revenue department for higher tax collection and happy with police department with the amount of fine and penalty imposed and collected by traffic police from the vehicle owners and drivers. Such news also get priority in the media as well.

There is hardly any link with expenses of services and delivery to the citizens. It is said that 'The reality of the public sector today is that it is assessed by the efficiency of its service delivery. The key principles fundamental to good governance are: a clear focus on the organization's purpose and outcomes for service users clarity about roles and functions managing risk and transparent decision making engaging with key stakeholders ensuring accountability.

The service providers must improve and aspire to discover, distil and disseminate evidence of 'what really works' to promote effective, efficient and equitable services. Every staff member has responsibility for providing good quality social care. Social care governance is the process by which organizations ensure good service delivery and promote good outcomes for people who use services.

Many countries have undertaken public sector reforms and more regulation to improve the quality of service delivery. The service provide may promote evidence on how best to create and sustain excellence in public service, support innovation and reform, and convene events that encourage new ways of tackling reform. An increasing number of governments are or envisage using design approaches to innovate and co-create public policy interventions with professionals, the private sector, civil society representatives, third sector organizations and citizens. In design thinking, stakeholders are called upon to play a responsible, active and constructive role in shaping decisions.

There are seven key areas of improvement are (1) speed – The time taken to deliver a service should be the shortest possible for both the customer and the organization delivering the service, right first time, (2) engagement – The manner in which services are delivered should be seen as customer-centric (i.e. participatory and trustworthy with the customer's needs at the core), (3) responsive – There should be an 'intelligent' mechanism in place to address any variation in meeting service levels and to drive changes in the service delivery organization, (4) value – The customer needs to believe that the service delivery mechanism is cost effective, and value is driven by customer outcomes, not organisational processes, (5) integration – The service delivery mechanism should be integrated. There should be no 'wrong door' policy for the customer, (6) choice – There should be multiple channels for service delivery, so that customers can have 'channels of choice', depending on specific needs at specific times, (7) experience – Personalisation of service is necessary to ensure that customers' experiences are on a par with what they are used to receiving from the public and private sector.

There are different levels of service: poor, acceptable, normal, good, great and excellent service. Many countries have created rules, describe ways and prescribe a magical formula when it comes to delivering service. Some go the way of reliable, timely, personalized, memorable, unnoticeable, and remarkable and so on. There are theoretical problems of validity, reliability, efficacy, and ethicality – as well as numerous others.

Service is the extent to which a service meets the customer's needs and expectations. The trouble is that they all focus on how it is delivered – the internal processes – or on the service itself. But that misses the point of service excellence and of service in general. Excellence theory is perhaps the most critical and dominant paradigm in understanding of public relations theory and practice.

The excellent service is when these experiences are surpassed and when customers feel that they have received that little unexpected extra in the shape of extra effort.

Sometimes that little unexpected extra can come in different shapes and forms such as a smile, a positive remark, random acts of kindness or the additional effort by a service professional going the extra mile.

The service providers get their salary and other benefits for their standard service to the recipients. They are also additional remuneration of early promotion and incentives from the government as their own standard assessments.

Some organization like Rotary and Lion clubs also recognizes the service providers with befitting manners. The Rotary Vocational Service Excellence Award is designed to recognize an individual who surpasses expectations for exemplary vocational service. These are employees of different public service proving organizations, who demonstrate one or more of the following attributes: (1) goes above and beyond to serve others with a positive and willing spirit, (2) demonstrated leadership or an ability to motivate others in pursuit of excellence, (3) considered situations and problems from novel and diverse perspectives; addressed challenges in an innovative manner. The objects of Rotary do not include winning or awarding prizes or awards. It is about recognition for dedication, effort and making a difference: dedication to the ideal of Service Above Self. It recognizes the effort that members of Rotary Clubs expend to make a difference in their local or international communities; and making a difference by producing an investment in the future. Rotary follows the policy that service should be recognised and not only reward. Rotary clubs also have their internal recognition of members with award of 'Service Above Self'.

One of the global best known recognition is the Victoria Cross (VC). It is like the 'Bir Sharsto' of Bangladesh Army. It is the highest award of the United Kingdom's honours system. It is awarded for "gallantry in the presence of the enemy" to members of the British armed forces. It may be awarded posthumously. The Victoria Cross is awarded for most conspicuous bravery, or some daring or pre-eminent act of valour or self-sacrifice, or extreme devotion to duty in the presence of the enemy. It is said that the VC awardees are usually soldiers and take risk of their life to fight enemies with unusual manner and his army own the battle dramatically due to his supreme sacrifice.

A few years back during the earth quake in Bangladesh, all the doctors, nurses, other staffs and even patients left the hospital for own safety except one nurse. It happened in Panchagor district town. The nurse, Razia did not leave a new born baby and the mother after caesarian operation. The great lady had shown excellence of service beyond her professional duty. She may be a Night Angel of Bangladesh.

In another incident, a minor boy 'Jihad' fall into the pipe while playing at Khilgaon area. The fire service department could not rescue the boy alive or dead and abandon the operation. The cost of operation was few Crs of taka. But a simple handmade tool made by three volunteers eventually succeeded to bring him out, though it was too late. The tool instantly designed was made by them on the spot. The miracle operation of these common people was led by Faruk, a vehicle mechanic, Rahul, an engineering student and Moon, a diploma engineer.

The service providers are duly paid for their service and the social service organizations and government should come forward to recognize the excellence of services beyond the 'responsibility' and 'paid for' to encourage others to provide service about self for mankind.

IN QUEST OF HAPPINESS

Rtn CP M. Naseemul Hye PHF

Sr. Executive Director
Bashundhara Group

People often think happiness is based on what they achieve and acquire. It is the only true measure of personal success. Making other people happy is the highest expression of success, but it's almost impossible to make others happy if one is not happy himself. It is not a happening; it's a state of mind. One can have everything in the world and still be miserable. Another person can have relatively little yet feel unbounded joy.

Happiness comes from mastering the art of appreciating and consciously enjoying what one already has. So, one shall not expect the results to come automatically. It is possible to understand how to attain happiness, yet not put it into practice. In fact, many people actually prefer to be comfortable and unhappy, rather than endure the discomfort of changing their habits.

Just as learning any new skill requires effort, one has to be willing to engage in serious effort to achieve real happiness. Happy people are energetic and ambitious. When one's mood negatively affects others, we recognize that we have an obligation to be happy and not spoil the fun of others. That's why we try to put on a happy face when we're at a gathering or in a party. But what about when we're at home with our family members? Being happy is part of being considerate to the people around us.

The key to happiness is to do the same things you do everyday but with a slightly different approach. Start bringing those changes in our attitude towards life and you will see how simple it is to be happy!

Gratitude: Appreciate what we have and value it. Try counting our positives and be grateful for all the good things and people in our life. Stop complaining and be thankful for what we already have and we'll soon start to feel happy.

Optimism: Treat failure as an opportunity to learn a new and better lesson from life, and that's the trick to manufacture optimism in life. Never give up trying because that's an indication that something better is in store. Once we start harbouring an optimistic attitude towards life, success will follow automatically.

Avoid comparison: Nothing is as awful as comparing ourselves to someone else. If we think we are better than the other, we're letting ourselves regale in an unhealthy sense of superiority. If we demean ourselves in front of others, it means all our hard work and progress has been in vain. While social comparisons are unhealthy, self-improvement is desirable yet effective and this should be our aim.

A renowned Life Expert has suggested nine significant attitudes which helps one to become happier in life which are as follows:

1. Start each day with expectation

When we rise from bed, make the first thought that something wonderful is going to happen today.

2. Take time to plan and prioritize

Most common source of stress is the perception that we've got too much work to do. Rather than be obsessed about it, pick one thing which, if we get it done today, will move us closer to our highest goal and purpose in life. Then do that first.

3. Give a gift to everyone you meet

We can gift our smile, a word of thanks, appreciation or encouragement, a gesture of politeness, even a friendly nod to others. And never pass a beggar without giving him something, no matter how small. Peace of mind is worth the spare change.

4. Deflect partisan conversations

Arguments and counter arguments about silly matters, even politics, never have a "right" answer. But these definitely get people all riled up over things they can't control. When such topics surface, bow out by saying something like: Thinking about that stuff makes my head hurt.

5. Assume people have good intentions

Since we can't read minds, we don't really know the "why" behind the "what" people do. Imputing evil motives to other people's weird behaviors adds extra misery to life, whereas assuming good intentions leaves you open to reconciliation. Have an open mind.

6. Eat quality food slowly

Sometimes we can't avoid scarfing something quick to keep us up and running. Even so, at least once a day try to eat something really delicious, like a small chunk of cheese or chocolate. Focus on it; taste it; savor it. Enjoy the eating and forget other non tasty items! Be grateful to Allah for what you ate.

7. Let go of our results

The big enemy of happiness is worry, which comes from focusing on events that are outside our control. Once we've taken action, there's usually nothing more we can do. Focus on the job at hand rather than some weird fantasy of what might happen.

8. Lessen viewing the TV

Many households leave their TV sets on while they're doing other things. The entire point of TV broadcast is to make us dissatisfied with our lifestyles, by hammering us with advertisements, so that we'll buy more stuff. Why subliminally programs make ourselves to be mindless consumers?

9. End our each day with gratitude

Just before we go to bed, write down at least one wonderful thing that happened around us. It might be something as small as a making a child laugh or any interesting matter. Whatever it is, be grateful for that day because it will never come again.

A QUOTE ON HAPPINESS

The happiness of our life depends upon the quality of our thoughts, therefore, WE have to guard accordingly, and take care that WE entertain no notions unsuitable to virtue and reasonable nature.

Symptoms Of Different Homoeopathic Medicine In Specific Disease

Psoriasis

Psoriasis is one of the most chronic skin diseases that are characterized by thick, red, silvery, scaled patches on the skin. It can also be defined as an inflammatory skin condition. It affects both sexes and usually appears in the age of 15-30 years. It is rarely found in infants and elderly people. It is not contagious and is caused by faulty signals in the immune system.

Homoeopathic remedies for Psoriasis

NATRUM MUR:- Homoeopathic medicine Natrum Mur is the leading remedy for treating cases of guttate psoriasis. The patient suffers from dry psoriatic patches mostly in the scalp, hairy margin, behind the ears, bends of joints and most of the exposed areas of skin. The lesions are dry and the skin peels easily. People needing Natrum Mur may exhibit an unusual craving for salt and salty things. This usually aggravates the itching. The persons may also experience an increase in the symptoms when they go to a hot, humid climate as found in coastal regions.

ARS IOD:- Ars Iod is also an excellent homoeopathic medicine for curing cases of guttate psoriasis characterized by an extremely dry skin which peels off easily. The patient may be very weak. Ars Iod promises relief from guttate psoriasis in people who also have respiratory complaints. The skin shows excessive scaling. As the skin peels, the underlying skin is exposed and there may be a thin watery discharge. Ars Iod can be prescribed to patients who are thin, emaciated and easily fatigued. They may also have profuse sweating at night.

SILICEA:- I find Silicea is another homoeopathic medicine which works well for guttate psoriasis. It is best prescribed for patients who have lesions that are tiny and look rosy red in color. As the lesions become old, the color changes to dark brown and then form into dry and white scales. Persons who require silicea may give off an offensive foot sweat. Silicea can be given in people who feel extremely cold and cannot tolerate even the mildest form of cold. The skin lesions may itch only in the day time and the patients feel better in the evening and night.

GRAPHITES:- I would pick homoeopathic medicine Graphites for treating skin ailments, especially in patients who may have a tendency to take cold easily. Graphites may be recommended for patients who are shy, timid and indecisive. The skin is rough and hard. Graphites can also be given in psoriasis of the nails where the nails are crippled and break easily. Nails are deformed and there may be cracks around the finger tips. In these cases, guttate psoriasis with lesions spreads all over the body.

VIRAL WARTS

Thujaoccidentalis:- is the remedy of choice when the warts are cauliflower-like in shape, occur in crops, are moist to touch and bleed easily. These warts appear chiefly on the back of the head.

Causticum :- is effective when the warts are solid, flat on the surface of the neck, face, eyelids, and tip of nose and on the fingers. One dose every week, for three weeks, need to be administered.

Calcarea carbonica :- is indicated when warts are itching, bleed easily and soft and spongy and have a stinging sensation. One dose every week should be taken and this continued for two weeks.

Dulcamara :- is useful when warts are on the back of hands, large in size, fleshy and smooth to touch. One dose should be taken per week for three weeks.

Ferrumpicricum :- efficiently heals warts which appear on the palms and are painful, or occur on the soles of feet and are known as corns, and are yellow in color. The medicine should be taken three times a day for two weeks.

Acidumnitricum :- is to be selected for pendunculated warts that bleed easily, are painful and large in size. Every week for three weeks one dose is to be taken.

Antimonium:- is indicated in cases of hard warts accompanied by the formation of a callus. One dose is to be taken every 12 hours for three weeks.

Natrum carbonicum :- is the remedy that is used in case of weeping, ulcerated warts occurring on the tips of the toes. One dose every 12 hours for three weeks is the prescribed dose.

Natrum muriaticum :- is indicated for warts that occur on palms having a propensity towards sweating. One dose every 12 hours is to be taken for three weeks or until the infestation is eliminated.

Sepia:- is the remedy of choice for large black warts that have hair growing from them.

It is advisable to consult an experienced homeopathy practitioner if the above medicines fail to improve your condition.
